

SECTION XXY.
VIBHUTI, OR
THE DIVINE SOVEREIGNTY.

ARJUNA said:

1. " Thou art the supreme Brahman,
the supreme-
Abode, the supreme Purity; Purusha, Eternal, Divine,
primeval God, Unborn, the Lord! "—(x. 12.)
2. All the Rishis have thus acclaimed Thee, as also the-
divine Rishi Narada; so Asita, Devala and Vyasa; and now Thou Thyself tellest it me.—{x. 13.)
3. All this I believe true that Thou sayest to me, O
Keshava. Thy manifestation, O Blessed Lord, neither
Gods nor Danavas comprehend.—(x. 14.)
4. Thou indeed knowest Thyself by Thyself,
O Puru-
shottama! Source of beings, Lord of beings,
God of Gods,.
Ruler of the world !—(x. 15.)
5. Deign to tell without reserve of Thy divine Self-
sovereignty, by which sovereignty Thou stayest, pervading-
these worlds.—(x. 16.)
6. How may I know Thee, O Yogi, by constant meditation ? -In what, in what aspects art Thou to be thought of
by me, O Blessed Lord ?~-(x. 17.)
7. In detail tell me again of Thy Yoga and sovereignty,.
O Janardana ; there is for me never satiety
in hearing
Thy life-giving words.—(x. 18.)

SHRĪ BHAGAVAN said:

8. Blessed be thou ! I will declare to thee
My divine:
sovereignty by its chief characteristics, O best of the-Kurus ; there is no end to details of Me.—(x.
19.)
